BLOOD WEDDING-Federico Garcia Lorca

Blood Wedding an inferno of tenderness, desire, revenge and jealousy in an ancient Andalusian landscape of dry white dust and scorched earth. Blood Wedding is a tragedy of passion. Gripped by uncontrollable forces the characters unfold their story in prose, poetry, music and dance. The Mother whose husband and son have been killed by the vendetta knife, the Bride dragged by dark feelings into the arms of her doomed lover, the Bridegroom enticed by Death.

You will be moved by this play of Federico Garcia Lorca, one of his earliest and much acclaimed plays. Lorca was a poet, playwright, musician and artist. He was a friend of Salvador Dali and Luis Bunuel. He was murdered by Francoist thugs in 1936.
