About This Production

Josie is visiting Fay for the first time in 15 years.

Fay is serving life for murdering her husband, Josie's father.

Mother and daughter try to break through the barriers of time, memory and punishment that separate them. Between them lies the fact of a murder Josie cannot remember and Fay has been trying to forget. Uncovering the memories they share is more dangerous than either of them can imagine.

'Iron resonates and will stay with the viewers long after they have left the theatre', British Theatre Guide

About Proscenium

Proscenium was founded in 1924. Since then, our aim has been to present classic and contemporary plays to as wide an audience as possible.
